What is Angel House?

Angel House is a place to care for children in crisis in the Ingham County area—children who have been taken into protective custody because of sexual and/or physical abuse. Angel House is a division of Child & Family Services, Capital Area, a non-profit community organization.

The Angel House Mission.

To provide a coordinated, multidisciplinary approach to the problem of child abuse, including efficient, effective, child-centered assessment and emergency shelter services.

Angel House will Provide:

- A safe, child-friendly environment for children to be interviewed and assessed to determine whether they have been abused
- Short-term emergency shelter in a home-like setting for children taken into protective custody because of suspected abuse
- State-of-the-art, child-centered forensic assessments
- Professionals specially trained to interview victims of child abuse
- Coordination with expert medical personnel
- Support for victims and their families
- Coordination of investigative efforts
- A multidisciplinary team approach including law enforcement, child protective services, prosecutor's office, and social services designed to meet the best interests of the child and the child's family
- Case review and tracking
- Referrals for counseling and other services
- Victim advocacy and support
- Support groups for non-offending parents
- Training for professionals, medical residents, practicum students and interns
- Community education and prevention programs
